Fall 2015

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Dear PWS/WPIT colleagues,

It is an honor and a privilege to serve you and the SWSPCP Board as President for the 2015-2016 term. I'm excited for the upcoming year's events and on-going development of our services and membership. I am quite fortunate to be working alongside a knowledgeable and talented group of people dedicated to upholding the highest standards for professionals, like you, who study and manage the nation's wetland resources.

The SWSPCP Board and committees have been working diligently to expedite the application and renewal requirements to our certificants. Continued education opportunities are the key to maintaining the highest caliber of educated professionals in the industry. The short course pre-approval program is online for streamlined processing so that continued education is easily transferable to certification requirements. We will be implementing online ethics training as a requirement for certification beginning January of 2017.

We've added recorded ethics sessions and information videos to our website and social media sites. Find us on Facebook and Twitter to view these sessions. We are evolving towards a greater social media exposure in order to connect and communicate with the wetland professional community. Let us know if you "Like" it!

Certification is on the rise and the certification program growth has already exceeded the 2015 projections. Our asset growth is a reflection of the support of our certified PWS/WPITs provide through mentoring and promoting the benefits of Professional Wetland Scientist certification. On behalf of the SWSPCP Board, we welcome you to the certification program and thank you for leading the way with the highest professional standards.

SWSPCP WELCOMES PRESIDENT-ELECT JOHN LOWENTHAL

Please join us in thanking the candidates for their participation in this year's election and in extending congratulations to John Lowenthal who was elected to the President-Elect position.

Also a special thanks to the Nominating Committee Chair, Bill Kirchner, and the members of the Nominating Committee for their dedication and contribution to this important process.

SWSPCP welcomes John to the President-Elect Position. He currently resides on the Society of Wetland Scientist, PWS Certification Review Panel. He joined SWS in 1991 and was certified as a PWS in 1995.

John is a senior biologist with 30 years' experience managing environmental projects with complex wetland issues including hundreds of confirmed wetland delineations, over a hundred Section 404, Section 10, and Section 408 wetland permits, detailed mitigation studies including: site searches, feasibility studies, site designs including grading and planting, construction management, and post construction monitoring.

John also currently sits on the EPA's Board of Scientific Counselors Safe and Sustainable Water Resources Subcommittee. Mr Lowenthal has also conducted long term research following 5 case studies dating back to 1993 where wetlands were designed/used to treat stormwater runoff while also providing wetland mitigation.

John is very knowledgeable of the new EPA mandated Chesapeake Bay TMDL programs. He is assisting municipalities and federal facilities in developing stormwater programs to bring their areas into compliance.

PWS/WPIT INTERVIEW Q&A

SWSPCP has randomly selected PWSs/WPITs to participate in the following interview and we have anonymously posted some of the responses to the interview questions below.

1. How has becoming certified benefited you in your career?

"I have been given more opportunities by my employer to carry out wetlands work as a leader or independently."

"Clients have requested that I exclusively write their reports, and people have called attention to my certification ."

"It provides greater recognition / credibility"

2. How long have you been certified?

"Less than 2 years "

"1 year"

3. Would you recommend PWS/WPIT Certification to fellow colleagues?

"Yes. When I attended the course for the wetland delineation certification, I recommended the PWS/WPIT certification to some of them who didn't already have it."

"Yes, as long as the requirements stay stringent"

4. Have you received RFPs requiring a PWS/WPIT credential?

"No, but we have included the credentials when applying for RFPs."

"Yes"

"Not yet, but one individual reached out to all PWS in MA for a potential project"

"Always when submitting reports and in e-mail signature."

"Yes, mostly just in my title"

PWS/WPIT INTERVIEW Q&A

6. How did you hear about becoming a PWS/WPIT and SWSPCP?

"I researched online"

"Heard about PWS from a colleague who received his PWS certification."

"No, but I plan on becoming a member"

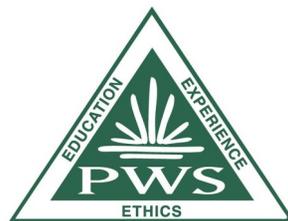

"yes"

8 Tell us a little about what the PWS means to you along with what value?

"I consider the PWS to be comparable or somewhat equivalent to a continuing education program (Masters or PhD). I had originally intended on obtaining a masters degree in wetland science, but this allows me to have that projected plan while continuing my experience in the professional world." / "That all of the VERY challenging classes I took in school was required for certification. Value... I'd like to see articles for reading with questions following for CEUs."

"To me, it is a validation that I have enough knowledge in the field to be recognized by my peers."

"I appreciate the body of expertise represented by the body and the folks it represents. I look forward to more information disseminated by SWS to promote the special technical insight that is possessed by members and SWSPCP participants. "
